

RANCHING WITH WOLVES

FREE WORKSHOP FOR LIVESTOCK PRODUCERS

JRL Ranch, BUTTE FALLS, OREGON | MARCH 14 & 15 2022

Workshop open to Oregon and California Ranchers

The return of wolves on working lands is just one of the many expanding challenges ranchers may face in today's world. As such, there exists a greater need for understanding, tangible resources, and support for the stewards of our wild-working landscapes.

This workshop is designed to provide insight from first-hand experience, discuss practical solutions and strategies, explore opportunities for support, and to have open conversation around the topic of ranching with wolves and other predators.

Day 1, March 14, 9:30a.m. – 7:00p.m.

Lunch and Catered Dinner Included

- Welcome and Introductions
- A Rancher's Story
- Resilient Ranching in the Modern World
- Understanding Wolf Hunting Behavior and Prey Vulnerability
 - Lunch
- ODFW Updates
- Regenerative Ranching for Coexisting with Predators
- Reducing Vulnerability in Cattle to Predation
- Open Discussion
- Break (4:30p.m.); check into rooms
- Dinner (5:15p.m.) with short presentation followed by discussion

Day 2, March 15, 9:00a.m. - Noon

Breakfast at 8:00am

- Stockmanship
 - Ranch Sustainability
 - Reducing Wolf-Livestock Conflict
- Resources and Opportunities for Livestock Producers

Presenters:

- Hilary Zaranek Anderson, Crazy D Ranch, Montana
- Mike Ensley, JRL Ranch, Oregon
- ODFW

FREE LODGING AVAILABLE for participants, March 14

Workshop participants will receive $150 stipend for travel and other associated costs of attending

Please RSVP by March 9

RSVP's, Lodging, Stipends, and Questions, e-mail: Jennifer@WorkingCircle.Org

Workshop Sponsored by Working Circle

Zoom option will be available for listening in only; will not include evening portion of event.

Visit <https://www.workingcircle.org/oregon-workshop.html> for Zoom Link

